Mr. Bain [illegible] the vice [illegible] of the United States Steel corporation [illegible] of metal[illegible] and [illegible]. The Lamme medal is not the first recognition [illegible] he received. He has been awarded the Robert W. Hunt gold medal, the Henry Marion Howe gold medal, the American Iron & Steel Institute medal and the honorary degree of doctor of engineering by Lehigh university. He is now president of the American Society for Metals.

Mr. Bain has received three degrees from Ohio State university, the last being that of chemical engineer conferred in 1932.

[illegible] of Mr. Bain [illegible] and [illegible] a story of advancement and the winning of recognition in the various [illegible] laboratories where he has worked.

He is a native of Marion county and a son of Mrs. Milton H. Bain of 1150 [illegible] Center street. He was born Sept. 14, 1891. In 1909 he was graduated from Marion High school, where he showed sufficient [illegible] great interest in [illegible] to obtain for him special laboratory privileges. A further summer course at Ohio Wesleyan university prepared him for admission to Ohio State university in 1909 as a chemical engineering student. He received his bachelor's degree in chemical engineering in 1912.

In Government Service

Mr. Bain's first work was as a chemist in the water resources branch of the United States geological survey. Later he transferred to the United States bureau of standards at Washington for two years. He left this work to return to Ohio State university to work toward the master's degree, majoring in chemical engineering, and serving as assistant to Dr. J. R. Withrow, head of the department. The master of science degree was conferred at the end of the year partly in recognition of further work in the summer of 1916 at Columbia university. He was elected to Sigma Xi and Phi Lambda Upsilon professional fraternities.

Mr. Bain then served as instructor in chemical engineering at the University of Wisconsin during 1916-17. Afterward he joined the development department of the B. F. Goodrich Co. in Akron and remained there until he was commissioned first lieutenant in the chemical warfare service in 1918.

His work at Columbia and Wisconsin had related to metals to a large extent and his interests were by that time definitely turned in the direction of that field. He became associated with the wire division of the National Lamp Works, General Electric Co., after his discharge from the army and began the research work which occupied him for more than 15 years.

Worked With X Ray

Mr. Bain was one of the earliest users of the X ray diffraction in the study of the hardening of steel and other metals. By 1923 he was thoroughly absorbed in the study of steel and was [illegible] for a time a consulting [illegible]ship with the General Electric Co. He joined the staff of the Atlas Steel corporation [illegible] Ludlum Steel Co., where he concentrated on the subject of high speed steel and certain chromium steels. He continued this type of work after 1924 at the Union Carbide and Carbon [illegible] laboratories [illegible] [illegible] particularly the [illegible]. A joint author of a paper on [illegible] iron chromium and [illegible] E. Griffiths [illegible] Ohio State [illegible] was awarded the Robert W. Hunt gold medal [illegible] 1927.

When the United States Steel research laboratory was established in 1928 under the directorship of Dr. John [illegible] Mr. Bain was selected to take charge of the work [illegible] particularly to the metal [illegible]. In a seven year period he helped contribute to solution of a number of long standing fundamental problems of steel behavior [illegible] authorship with a brilliant group of associates Mr. Bain

POWER FLOWS AS STRIKE ENDS

13 Michigan Counties Including Three Industrial Cities Regain Electricity

DIFFERENCES NEGOTIATED

75,000 Made Idle While Candles, Oil Lamps and Flashlights Come Into Use

By The Associated Press

SAGINAW, Mich., May 20—Normal electric service was restored in 13 counties of the Saginaw bay area today after striking employes and the Consumers Power Co. reached a truce providing for immediate negotiation of their differences.

The industrial cities of Bay City, Flint and Saginaw were the largest ones affected by the eight hour suspension of power service but there are 190 smaller communities in the area.

Murphy Orders Parley

Negotiator representing the consumers company and the United Automobile Workers of America which called the strike agreed to comply with the order of Gov. Frank Murphy to meet with him at 11 a. m. today in the state house at Lansing.

Newspapermen estimated that approximately 75,000 persons lost a half day's work because industrial and business establishments were forced to halt operations during the utility tieup.

As darkness fell over the Saginaw valley last night candle, flashlight and oil lamps were at a premium.

Traffic became snarled in the larger cities. Policemen were stationed on the busiest corners. One Saginaw street bridge was left open as the flow of power halted.

Bakeries and restaurants dependent upon electricity for cooking were idle for hours. Many homes were dark.

Auto Lights Used

Automobile headlights and spotlights illuminated some places. Motor cars or trucks were rigged up to provide power for some enterprises, such as operation of filling station pumps.

Former Relief Director at Ironton Disappears Before Being Indicted

MAY BE IN KENTUCKY

Duffy's Lawyer in Charge of Case Anxious To Open Joint Trial of Six

By The Associated Press

IRONTON, O., May 20—The state [illegible] plans for an early [illegible] trial today [illegible] Miss Elizabeth Griffith, former [illegible] one of six charged with ballot tampering [illegible] the office of the board of elections.

Miss Griffith disappeared less than 12 hours before a special session of the Lawrence county grand jury yesterday returned indictments against her and five men, three of them county employes.

Thomas A. Burke Jr. of Cleveland, special counsel for Atty. Gen. Herbert S. Duffy, said he was very anxious to locate Miss Griffith immediately. He expressed belief she was at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., where her family said she might be found.

May Be in Kentucky

There were reports here she might be in Kentucky.

William J. Kennedy, secretary of state, [illegible] saying that return of the indictments is the first step in cleaning up one of the state's worst election scandals, described Miss Griffith as a key figure.

Others indicted awaiting arraignment Friday were:

Pearl A. Pratt, county auditor; Dan C. Papp, who resigned as deputy auditor last week; Wade Webb, common pleas court bailiff; John Zeek, property appraiser, and William Dickens, prominent lumber dealer and defeated candidate for county commissioner. All are Republicans.

There was some unofficial discussion as to whether Webb should be permitted to hold his post, but Common Pleas Judge James Collier [illegible] him to remain on the job.

Burke said he would seek an early joint trial of the six. He added, however, that this might [illegible] possible if Miss Griffith was not located shortly.

Kennedy, who planned to remain here until after the arraignments, [illegible]

"I am personally grateful to Gov. Martin L. Davey, Attorney General Duffy, Burke and State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson for their fine cooperation and assistance in this case in making it possible for an honest jury to return indictments. Without this wholehearted cooperation the results thus far obtained would have been impossible."

The investigation of the November election was requested by Kennedy after Common Pleas Judge Philip Wieland of Morrow county invalidated the recount election of Dickens and reported evidence of ballot tampering.

DUKE WILL FIGHT BACK AGAINST ENGLISH FOES

Plans To Bolster Family's Position With Government After Winning Royal Title for His Bride To Be

By The Associated Press

PARIS, May 20—Persons close to the Duke of Windsor reported today the abdicated British monarch was determined to fight back at his critics in England.

At the same time these sources said former King Edward VIII would do all in his power to bolster the royal family's position in the government.

The duke was represented as believing certain quarters were trying to reduce the influence of his brother and successor, King George VI.

These quarters, the duke was said to feel, were the same ones that caused him to abdicate and go into exile because of their opposition to his marriage with Mrs. Wallis Warfield.

Edward, who lost his own fight to keep the crown and marry "the woman I love," intended to do all possible to help his brother hold fast to some of his royal rights, the sources close to him said.

The course of action Windsor planned was not disclosed.

Close friends of Windsor [illegible] a dispute with the British government over the right of his bride-to-be to have the title of her royal highness [illegible] he [illegible] considered the opening gun of his fight [illegible] yesterday from the [illegible] Candé where he [illegible] in voluntary exile.

A few hours after the [illegible] obstacles to his wedding were cleared away, Windsor's attorney, Herman L. Rogers, announced the reason no members of the royal family were coming to the wedding June 3 was [illegible] probably the king was advised not to send anyone.

Windsor, backed by his brother and Queen Mother Mary, was known to have insisted that his marriage be accorded the official sanction of the royal family through the presence of his brother the Duke of Kent and the sister Mary, the princess royal. Kent was Windsor's choice for best man at the ceremony.

The opposition of the British government and some court circles, however, was understood to have overridden the new king's desire to honor his predecessor in recognition of his long service to the empire, both as Prince of Wales and king.

DR. E. L. BRADY NAMED TO POST

Dr. E. L. Brady of Marion was elected president of the Ohio Public Health association today at the group's annual convention at Columbus, The Associated Press reported. The association advocated taking from the governor the power to appoint the state director of health and having the state public health council make the appointment.

A resolution adopted at the association's annual meeting urged a [illegible] five year term for the health director, who now serves at the pleasure of the governor.

HACK PROBE REPORT DUE SOON, IS BELIEF

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, O., May 20.—Announcement of results of ballistics tests made in the Carroll E. Hack murder investigation was believed near today when Morrow county authorities went to the London prison farm where the tests were made.

Mr. Hack was shot to death at his farm home three miles northwest of Cardington on April 18 and authorities indicated their chief hope of solving the mysterious slaying lay in tests made with the fatal bullets and six guns rounded up by Sheriff Oscar George.

The capture near Fredericktown yesterday of a prisoner who escaped from the London prison farm 10 months ago gave Sheriff George an occasion to go to the prison farm to return the prisoner today and while there he and Prosecuting Attorney Mason Campbell expected to visit the headquarters of the state division of criminal identification and investigation. This bureau made the ballistics tests.

DENY SIX NEW JUDGES NEEDED

Urge Withdrawal or Restriction of Measure to Two Additional Justices

LIBERAL DECISIONS CITED

Van Devanter's Resignation Also Referred to but President Remains Silent.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 20—President Roosevelt's closest senate advisers were urging him today to withdraw his court reorganization bill or restrict it to two additional justices.

They argued that the original bill no longer is needed because the court is construing the Constitution more broadly and because Justice Van Devanter's retirement is approaching.

Mr. Roosevelt still gave no public indication that he would yield. Many senators predicted he would stand firm until the supreme court decides the constitutionality of the social security law.

Inside Talk Apparent

There were indications, however, of private negotiations for a compromise. Administration leaders in the senate certainly were talking it.

The President himself called Sen. Nye, Republican of North Dakota, to the White House yesterday for a conference which Nye would not discuss afterwards.

The North Dakotan, one of the last Republican senators to declare against the Roosevelt bill, frequently has criticized the supreme court. He long has been associated with Senators Norris, Independent of Nebraska, and La Follette, Progressive of Wisconsin, both of whom are supporting the court bill.

Word was passed around in the senate that the President discussed with Nye a compromise on two instead of six new supreme court justices. Nye would neither confirm nor deny the report.

Sen. Frazier, Republican of North Dakota, also was understood to have received a White House invitation.

Working on Compromise

Court bill opponents said the administration was now working for the two justices compromise instead of the proposal supported in the judiciary committee with the approval of Sen. Robinson, Democratic leader, for appointment of one justice a year as long as any incumbents were over 75.

There was strong sentiment in the senate for withdrawal of the bill entirely and substitution of a constitutional amendment to require retirement of judges at 70 or 75 years of age.

Even some supporters of the Roosevelt bill argued privately that this now would meet the situation.

Opponents were just beginning today to write the committee's adverse report on the bill and it appeared likely that the supreme court would rule on the social security act before debate could begin in the senate.

JONES & LAUGHLIN WORKMEN AT POLLS

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, May 20 — Steel labor substituted good natured electioneering jibes for strife today and marched to the ballot boxes in the nation's greatest government-supervised industrial election at forty, 27,000 workers at Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. mills.

While steel management and union leaders tensely awaited outcome of the balloting, workers at the Pittsburgh and Aliquippa plants of the company filed orderly into the polling places to decide whether the steel workers organizing committee will represent them as the exclusive collective bargaining agency.

In the early morning glare of furnace fires many of the mill men laughed and joked as they waited their turn in voting lines.

Ernest C. Dunbar, acting regional labor board director supervising the election, said his office had not received any word of trouble at the polls during the first three hours of the election.

However, Justice of the Peace John Lynch of Beaver Falls said he had issued warrants against seven employes of the Republic Steel Corp. charged by the Steel Workers Organizing committee with attempting to "interfere."

Lynch said the warrants charged conspiracy to commit assault and carrying concealed weapons without a permit.

Chairman Philip Murray of the steel union committee declared yesterday six of the men were members of Republic's police force sent to this scene of a collective bargaining election by employes of Jones & Laughlin.

RACING SLOOP LEFT TO GALE'S MERCY

By The Associated Press

NEWPORT, R. I., May 20—The yacht Viva, which had been convoying T. O. M. Sopwith's Endeavor I, one of his two prospective challengers for the America's cup, arrived at Newport alone today, and reported the big sloop had parted her tow line in a gale 300 miles of Newport and was somewhere out on the Atlantic.

Meagre details were signaled by the Viva to Gerard B. Lambert's schooner yacht Atlantic while the English yacht awaited inspection by customs, health and immigration authorities. Until passed by those officials, no one was permitted aboard Viva, which remained anchored in the stream.

For home use, an electrically operated purifier has been invented that removes dust, pollen and other particles from the air.

CARDINAL'S ATTACK ON HITLER TAKEN UP

German Embassy Makes Representations to State Department.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 20 — The German embassy has made informal representations to the state department over criticisms voiced by Cardinal Mundelein, at Chicago, against Chancellor Hitler and Germany's Nazi regime.

This was learned today coincident with a statement by embassy officials that Ambassador Hans H. Dieckhoff had not thus far received instructions from his government to make a formal protest.

Mundelein's sensational remarks, in which he referred to Hitler as "an Austrian paper hanger and a poor one at that," was called to the attention of James Clement Dunn, chief of the state department's western European division, by Doctor Hans Thomsen, counselor of the German embassy, yesterday.

Thomsen showed Dunn press accounts of the cardinal's archdiocesan speech of last Tuesday while he was in the department on other routine business. He was said to have deplored Mundelein's speech as calculated to put a further strain on American-German relations.

RECESS TAKEN IN DIVORCE HEARING

Lester Suit Postponed 6 Weeks After 25 Testify.

After hearing testimony of approximately 25 witnesses all yesterday and this morning in the divorce suit of Guy O. Lester of 318 Carter avenue against Mrs. Bertha Lester of Route No. 5 in Pleasant township, Judge Hector S. Young of common pleas court postponed further hearing for six weeks. The postponement was arranged to give Mrs. Lester permission to include a request for a divorce in her cross petition which previously asked only alimony.

Mr. Lester asks a divorce on grounds of gross neglect and extreme cruelty, that his wife be barred from all interest in a 57-acre farm in Pleasant township.

There are seven children, two of them minors. The parents were married in 1901 and separated in September of 1935. Mrs. Lester asserts the husband deserted her then.

In her cross petition she alleges gross neglect and extreme cruelty and asks custody of the minor children and alimony. She is represented by George T. Geran and the husband by Mouser & Mouser.

Exceptions Filed

Hilbert D. Uline, retired city fire captain, today filed a bill of exceptions in the Third district court of appeals in his suit against the city to contest the city's abolition of the firemen's pension system. The document is a transcript of the proceedings in the trial before Judge Hector S. Young here and lists the exceptions of Uline's attorney, Grant E. Mouser Jr., to testimony and rulings.

The next step in bringing the case to the higher court at Lima will be the filing of a brief in answer to Uline's brief which was filed recently. Judge Young ruled that the city has the right to repeal any legislation of its own making, but Mr. Mouser contends that the pension system was not of its own making.

The Minority

The [illegible] of the majority [illegible] of a [illegible] minority [illegible] in congress [illegible] have lacked [illegible] them [illegible] opposition.

[illegible] organization [illegible] not [illegible] a [illegible] Republicans have submerged themselves [illegible] opposition [illegible] members of Mr. [illegible] own party. There have been [illegible] the real issues.

But there has been a real minority. This was [illegible] scored an important point when Sen. Harrison of Mississippi, chairman of the senate finance committee, appointed a committee consisting of Sen. Vandenberg of Michigan, Sen. Byrd of Virginia and himself to co-operate with the social security board in naming an advisory council to study the possibility of liberalizing the social security act.

This [illegible] Sen. Vandenberg's persistent criticism of parts of the social security act finally is getting results. The majority, though probably not satisfied with the act itself, would have been willing to let it stand indefinitely rather than to admit it might be faulty. The minority, whose duty is to oppose wherever opposition is called for, has made one of the contributions it is capable of making to good government in the United States. This is the kind of opposition which, being plainly constructive, commands public support.

Laid End To End

Routine statistics show a total of 829,193 persons on federal payrolls April 1, not including those employed in the legislative, judicial and military branches. This represents an increase of 257,102 jobholders since June [illegible] 1933—a 45 per cent increase under the new deal.

Most of the 829,193 federal employes probably support families. On the assumption that an average of two other persons will be found living on the pay of each jobholder, the total dependent on federal pay would be 2,487,000.

But at least an equal number of persons must be dependent on state, county and local government for their income. Probably not less than a total of 5,000,000 look to government for support. That is exclusive of congressmen, judges and soldiers, exclusive of persons on relief and pension rolls, and exclusive of the army of camp followers who make a living indirectly from governmental business.

These things are interesting in view of the facetious suggestion that this country could be made ideal by having only one taxpayer and everybody else working for the government, thereby assuring both him and them the best of care. It's almost time for the author of that nutty idea to claim the last laugh.

The Lot of a Policeman.

The lot of a policeman is not a happy one. But no policeman ever pounded a beat like the one John Bull has been assigned in the Spanish [illegible].

Theoretically, J. B. is helping to keep the Spanish civil war from spreading into the international neighborhood. He is being assisted, also theoretically, by France, Italy, Germany and Russia, etc.

Actually, it's not only a question of keeping the Spaniards within bounds, but of keeping non-Spaniards out of bounds. John Bull is in danger of being shot by either faction inside Spain, not to mention one or two nonbelligerents who might be tempted or [illegible] into some rash act.

[illegible] not surprising that a British war[ship] [illegible] in an explosion off the coast of Spain [illegible] that it's proving impossible to [illegible] the lives that were lost and the damage that was done. It's a good [illegible] that, after some hemming and hawing, the whole thing will be described officially as another accident. The lot of a policeman is not a happy one; accidents will happen if the world isn't taken too literally.

Ersatz.

With that ponderous assurance which sometimes makes Germans look uncomfortably like themselves in caricature, some of them now are said to be trying to force the late airship development into the Nazi pattern of ironclad nationalism.

Germany must have a safe lifting gas or passenger [illegible] will not ride any more in its ships. Germans do not have such a gas. Therefore it will produce it by transmuting hydrogen into helium, which happens to be its neighbor in the atomic chart of elements. This actually has been proposed by a well known aeronautic engineer.

It fits in neatly with Germany's policy of producing everything it needs [illegible] home. Thus if it does not have [illegible] it will devise a substitute. If it [illegible] butter it will use vegetable [illegible] If it does not have enough [illegible] it will [illegible]

Maybe the United States [illegible] worry about selling [illegible] Germany after all. If [illegible] to helium [illegible] presto, helium [illegible] simply trick [illegible]

It is no exaggeration to say that members of the [illegible] almost to a man [illegible] [illegible] Democrats alike, would like [illegible] [illegible] 68 [illegible] [illegible] the President [illegible] [illegible] expected to lead to another [illegible] of [illegible] or Pres[ident] [illegible] which [illegible] [illegible] asked to pile [illegible] to a [illegible] [illegible] the President of [illegible] compromise. Unseen Power Carries Court Fight

BY PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, May 20—Some [illegible] played [illegible] in every stage of this supreme court struggle from the beginning. It was not done on the [illegible] or in the public prints, but by every statesmanlike handling of events.

[illegible] mentioned at this stage, but it can be said with assurance that a group of men (some within the court and some within congress) has been working ardently and forcefully to block or knock down every court-packing move. They have not held meetings generally, but have been in communication constantly. They are not interested in politics, not even in pro-Roosevelt or anti-Roosevelt considerations. Some of them are prominent in the President's own party, still friendly with him and desirous of seeing his administration succeed.

Originally they were drawn together by the fact that the popular President controlled a great political and economic authority. He therefore seemed likely to win congressional approval for a plan which they thought would change our system of government. They felt so deeply they were willing to risk their official lives in an orderly but tacit venture of opposition.

*The first evidence of their handi*work was seen behind the supreme court [illegible] of its position on state minimum wage laws. The last was the timing of the Van Devanter resignation.

Timing

Few failed to notice that Justice Van Devanter announced his planned retirement so it would reach the public at just about the same time as the senate judiciary committee defeat of the President's court bill. Any one who knows statesmanship knows this dulled the edge of whatever blade of public pressure Mr. Roosevelt might choose to swing down upon sena*torial heads. It provided an en*tirely different setting for the reception of the committee action.

It put Mr. Roosevelt definitely in the position of gaining part of his point in an orderly and normal way without extremist revision of the court as a branch of government.

Similarly, the court reversal on the state minimum wage law foiled the President's contention that a "no man's land" of jurisdiction existed and forced him to fall back on the less forceful contention that a [illegible] had [illegible] by a single vote, he still should [illegible] to reorganize the court.

[illegible] 9 a. m. Tuesday because he had finished his court business for the term. This is true, but so are the conclusions [illegible] above.

Surmises

It is popular in choice capital drawing rooms to credit the opposition group leadership to Chief Justice Hughes, who nearly became President himself one [illegible] This conclusion is merely the [illegible] result of putting his well known ability in statesmanship together with his management of the court.

It is quite possible, however, that another member of the court and at least two members of congress had equally as much or more to do with the defense of the court. One congressman certainly had much to do with the Van Devanter resignation. Their identities will become known in time.

Gathering Crowd

Most of the congressional authorities were completely taken by surprise. None was able to offer even a good guess as to a successor, although most of them seemed to realize the six-justice packing bill was as good as dead. They even made such bad guesses as naming Donald Richberg, the NRA nemesis of Gen. Johnson. (Richberg undoubtedly could not be confirmed by the Senate.) Their best guess [illegible] Solicitor General Stanley Reed.

Best line on it downtown was that the President would pack a [illegible] court judge who is nation[ally] unknown.

Names of senators and congressmen were suggested, but [illegible] in a complimentary way. Senator Wagner, who is considered a good legal authority since his labor bill was upheld, expressed the opinion privately that no legislator who voted for the recent judicial retirement bill would be eligible. Others do not agree, and it might take a decision of the supreme court to decide, but wisest lawyers string along with the Wagner viewpoint.

High on Mr. Roosevelt's list of [illegible] judges are Judge Joseph Hutcheson of Houston, Tex., Judge Sam Bratton of New Mexico and Judge Denman of San Francisco.

Motive

The personal motive behind the Van Devanter retirement was that he always wanted to be a farmer instead of a lawyer. He began preparing for retirement when he bought a Maryland farm two or three years ago and started working it. In his youth his Indiana father declined to permit him to take up farming and put him into law.

Just two days before his announcement, he took Justice Roberts out to the farm and showed Roberts what an efficient farmer a supreme court justice could be.

Blind Pianist Wins Acclaim

BY O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, May 20—From time immemorial sightless piano players have been confined to the Blind Toms who pound out their tinny tunes along the Bowery, in the Chinatown cellars and the Roumanian restaurants along Second avenue. Most played by ear and depended on pitched coins for a living.

Consequently the appearance of the fashionably attired blind British pianist, Alec Templeton, in the swanky Rainbow Room offered a new note in night club fare. Young, personable and joyous in his manner, he makes no concession of affliction. *His April recital at Car*negie Hall brought out the biggest audience of the season.

His art is ultra musical highbrow and yet so striking in its novelty he appeals to all grades of audiences. For instance he improvises in the style of Bach, Beethoven, Brahms, Chopin or any composer a member of the audience requests. And uses only five notes.

As he plays them they sound foreign and unrelated as to key. But he can with them produce the most melodic, technical and brilliant compositions one almost ever heard. Another of his stunts is to receive impressions of people and produce musical portraits of them. His patron is Walter Chrysler, Jr.

Webb Miller, war correspondent, carries two unusual cigarette cases. One is silver, covered with signatures of notables: Pershing, Foch, Lindbergh, Briand, Clemenceau and Gandhi. The Gandhi signature is the reason for two cases. The Mahatma agreed to give Miller his signature on condition the case would never be used for cigarets again—Gandhi being opposed to the use of tobacco. The writer agreed and like a good newspaperman kept his word. He carries both cases—one working and the other as a highly prized souvenir. Ted Riley has a cigaret case of the Duke of Windsor he once admired while running a Paris cafe. Poppy Day Helps Auxiliary Care for Needy Veterans [illegible] this work are [illegible] annual sale of [illegible] Legion flowers sold by the auxiliary each year on the Saturday preceding Memorial day, and voluntary gifts from friends.

Calls for food were most numerous during the winter months, the report shows, and this year the members responded to the call for relief in the flood district. The contribution to the flood sufferers amounted to $20 which is not included in the report for the year. Other expenditures included water, gas and electricity to the amount of $17.50. The following is the report for the year:

May, 1936, food $3.00, clothing $5.37; June, clothing $12.85; July, clothing 90 cents; September, clothing $5.95; October, clothing $20.97; November, food $21.74, clothing $5.92; December, food $41.25, clothing $18.18; January 1937, food $4.68, clothing forty-four cents; February, food $3, clothing $5.73; March, food $15, clothing $4.94; April, food $2.95. The sum of $49 was expended for coal during the winter months, and a call for comforters necessitated the expenditure of $2.67 for materials.

Contributions included food valued at $7.75, clothing at $5.50 and bedding at $25. These were distributed to needy veterans families in addition to the other help disbursed during the year.

The poppies to be sold on the street Saturday, May 29, as well as those sold in former years, are made by disabled soldiers of the World war, at the Ohio Soldiers and Sailors home at Sandusky, Mrs. Andrews said in discussing the welfare work. The flowers are sold by the Legion auxiliary for 10 cents each or any voluntary contribution she explains.

The soldiers and sailors who do not receive any compensation or pension and have no other income are given the preference in making the flowers, and in addition to providing a source of revenue for them it provides occupational work for the long hours of hospitalization. "No part of the money received from the sale of the poppies, with the exception of the purchase price of the poppies which is $18 a thousand, is used for any purpose other than the relief of needy veterans and their families in Marion," Mrs. Andrews emphasized.

NEW MOVIE COMING TO PALACE THEATER

Cast Lists as Players Well-Known Personages of Radio and Screen.

"Turn Off the Moon," one of the surprise musical films given national release a matter of days ago, will be brought to the Palace theater Saturday to remain through Tuesday.

Marion will be one of the first cities in the state to show the film.

Ruggles acts as Cupid's aid. As a star-bedazzled believer in astrological destiny, it is his duty to see to it that Miss Whitney and Downs achieve a happy conclusion for their amorous adventures before he can turn his attention to Miss Gates, the object of his affections for 15 years who has had to put up with innumerable postponements until the stars are in their proper orbit.

One of the astute weekly news magazines noted for its forthright motion picture reviews, said of the picture "Turn Off the Moon," first effort of cinema's only woman producer, Mrs. Fanchon Simon, was not planned in the grand manner. By all the gauges Hollywood uses to measure a picture's importance, such as cast names, expensive sets, and the fame of writers and directors, it should have remained merely a modest little musical for double bills. By a rare cinematic accident, it successfully refutes its sales bracket. Its gags and tunes are good, its patter fast. Above all it has the unprefigured value which is generated in a musical when most of the participants are young enough to enjoy their opportunities with relish, and the proceedings are not grave enough to numb them with anxiety concerning the results."

Salesmen Compare Mileage—Agree X-70 is "Tops." "I travel extensively over Ohio and compare mileage results on gasoline with fellow traveling salesmen. I find these men unite on X-70. We not only must economize on fuel, but look for three essentials in gasoline, namely, steady acceleration, good mileage and uniformity. X-70 fulfills all three of our requirements better than any other motor fuel."—(Letter from Terraplane owner, Portsmouth, Ohio. Name on request.)

SALES MANAGER CUTS "ROAD COSTS" 20%! "As Sales Manager of a merchandising firm, I know the most important thing we have to do is to reduce selling costs. We have discovered that X-70 gasoline cuts our traveling costs one-fifth! We get longer mileage from our cars, and maintenance costs have been reduced to a new low minimum. We have found that no other gasoline can duplicate this record!" —(Letter from Lima, Ohio, executive. Name on request.)

"I'm Keen on Keeping Clean—that's one of the worst drawbacks to travelling work. Driving with greasy, dirty, perspiring hands and face made me very uncomfortable until I developed the habit of using SOHIO's excellent washroom facilities. I first tried X-70 for a similar reason. SOHIO Stations looked busy. BRIEFS FILED IN SILICOSIS SUITS

First Written Arguments Submitted in Appeals Court in $715,000 Damage Action

ALLEGED ERRORS CITED

Claim Common Law Right To Sue, Issue Previously Decided, Defense Asserts

First written arguments [illegible] in the Third district court of appeals [illegible] several silicosis suits in which damages totaling $715,000 are asked [illegible] filed with Clerk of Court [illegible] The suits were appealed [illegible] from rulings of Judge Hector S. Young [illegible] court that the petitions of the plaintiffs did not state sufficient cause of action.

[illegible] Smith and Dr. Thomas H. Sutherland, attorneys for the plaintiffs in all the suits filed assignments of error and briefs in seven cases while Ben I. Wiant, attorney for the Osgood Co. and affiliated companies filed five answer briefs. The Marion Steam Shovel Co., defendant in the remaining [illegible] has not filed its answer.

The suits are: Delpha Riffe against the Marion Steam Shovel Co. for the death of her husband Hilton P. Riffe, $125,000; Mary Brammer against the Osgood and Alloy Cast Steel companies, for the death of her husband Sherman Brammer, $125,000; Elizabeth Nogle, administratrix of the estate of Robert P. Doty, against the Osgood and Alloy Cast Steel companies, $125,000; C. A. McCullough against the Osgood Co., $125,000; Francis Pattow against the Marion Steam Shovel Co., $12,000; John E. Kelrns against the Commercial Steel Casting and Osgood companies, $10,000, and Sherman Brammer against the Osgood and Alloy Cast Steel companies, $125,000.

Raise Question of Law

The questions raised by the suits for the first time in Ohio according to the plaintiffs attorneys are questions of law. Judge Young ruled finally on all the cases by sustaining demurrers of the companies.

Among the errors cited by the plaintiffs are the lower court's rulings that there is no cause of action; there is no common law right to sue for admitted negligence; the court has no jurisdiction over the matters. The plaintiffs also state that the ruling is a denial of rights under the state and federal constitutions.

In all the cases it is pointed out by Attorneys Smith and Sutherland that the plaintiffs are not eligible to participate in the state compensation fund for their silicosis injuries or deaths simply because there is no law to make it possible.

They state that they believe the question has never been raised before in Ohio or elsewhere of whether any employer can negligently impose upon a worker husband a disability and then that employer, paying neither husband nor wife, not be held responsible to the wife in an action at law for damage for her loss of support and consortium. The above statement appears in the brief filed for Mrs. Brammer.

This same situation applies to many other wives and mothers in the state of Ohio, said parties not being in any manner responsible for their unfortunate plight, the attorneys state.

In the brief filed for Mrs. Riffe, the attorneys state that the company admitted by its demurrer on which Judge Young decided the suit violation of sections of the Ohio code regarding effective safety devices.

We believe there is no question that the majority rule in this country is that there is a common law right to sue for the so-called occupational disease imposed by negligence of the employer unless the employe can receive some compensation from the industrial commission state fund compensation, Attorneys Smith and Sutherland state.

They point out that silicosis is one of hundreds of occupational diseases for which state laws provide no payment from the workmen's compensation. Of 700 such diseases only [illegible] are compensable they state.

In closing they argue that there should be a cause of action in view of the alleged violation of state safety rules by employers.

The answer briefs filed by the Osgood and affiliated companies bring out two points in support of their contention that the plaintiffs petitions do not state a cause of action:

1. There can be no recovery at common law in Ohio for an injury to or death of an employe due to an occupational disease.

2. If there could be such a recovery at common law, the same is now barred by constitutional and statutory provisions.

Mr. Wiant, attorney for the defendants, states that the exact questions raised in these suits were decided by the court of appeals and later by the United States supreme court in the suit of Charles Mozingo of Marion against the Marion Steam Shovel Co. That suit was decided in favor of the company.

Mr. Wiant also challenges the plaintiffs contentions that Judge Young's rulings denied the plaintiffs any of their constitutional rights.

106 Union Chiefs To Meet in Cincinnati Monday and Plot Offensive

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, May [illegible] Representatives of 106 American Federation of Labor [illegible] Monday with [illegible] President William Green [illegible] map the plan of battle with John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization.

[illegible] Hurst, president of the Cincinnati Central Labor council [illegible] today he had received indirect information from federation headquarters on the meeting [illegible] from Washington [illegible] Green would propose [illegible] for industrial unionization of mass production industries.

Should that plan be adopted the A. F. of L. would be following the C. I. O. program. The A. F. of L., however, would divide workers organized on an industrial basis among craft unions after [illegible] finite period and permit [illegible] the bargaining by shop [illegible] representatives, keeping with its policy.

The craft unions already [illegible] made several moves in the direction of industrial organization [illegible] some instances invading fields claimed by the C. I. O.

Lewis' associates have been reported as asserting the federation started its fight too late although conceding that an industrial union drive under federation sponsorship would prove troublesome. They contended such a campaign by A. F. of L. might lead to lengthy proceedings before the national labor board and result in strikes for recognition growing out of quarrels between unions.

Labor leaders said inter-union fights were likely to multiply as the result of increased activities by both groups since the U. S. supreme court upheld the Wagner labor act.

A. F. of L. leaders were reported considering doubling dues to finance their contest with Lewis. Each federation union with the exception of federal unions is supposed to pay the federation one cent a month for each member.

The federal unions are supposed to pay 35 cents a month for each member with [illegible] cents to go into a strike defense fund for federal union members.

The federation claims 2,900,000 members.

MAIL BOX TARGET OF AUTO WHEEL

A street corner mail box came out second best last night in an unusual traffic accident on West Center street. The trouble occurred when the left rear wheel of an automobile driven west on Center street by Joe Cofigno of west of Marion came off as the car approached Orchard street. The wheel rolled down the street, hit the curb and bounded into the air, striking the metal mail box in front of the entrance to the city hall. MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache [illegible] once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood when due to functional kidney disorders may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

A TRUE STORY

A man dying in a hospital in a large eastern city needed a blood transfusion and had to be a particular kind of blood. Well this isn't the first time that Want Ads have saved a life and knowing their value the local hospital placed an ad: Wanted a Blood Donor. Not one but several replied. The transfusion was made and today the man is well.

Many newspapers have carried advertisements in their Want Ads wherein a hospital or an individual wanted to buy blood. Naturally those placing the ads know the power of little Want Ads and the wonders they perform.

Fat Girls Get The Go-By—Slim Girls Win Men

Lose Fat The Easy Way—Without Starvation Diets, or Back-Breaking, Bending and Rolling Exercises.

Here's a way to get rid of ugly fat that works hand in hand with Nature. Millions of people are losing millions of pounds of flabby flesh and getting back slender figures, without the need of starvation diets or back-breaking exercise.

Medical science has discovered that one of the causes of too much fat lies in a little gland. It is the duty of this tiny gland to make about one drop and a half every day of a vital fluid. This helps the body "burn" up food and excess fatty tissues just as a good draft of air helps the furnace to burn up coal without forming "clinkers". If this little gland doesn't make this drop and a half of fluid every 24 hours, many people take on ugly fat.

Doctors correct this condition by feeding this little gland the substance it lacks—and Marmola Prescription Tablets are based on this same method. Millions are using them with success. They are prepared by a famous medical laboratory. Their formula is published in every package so you know what you are taking.

So don't waste time and money with starvation diets or back-breaking exercises. Go to your druggist today and get a box of Marmola. Try this simple, easy way to get rid of excess fat.

MURDER ON THE BLUFF

BY ESTHER TYLER

The mysterious ... attractive ... takes us all ... stormy week ... Bluff home of ... series of ... apparently ex... ... below the ... Michael's mind ... long since ... tried Aunt ... shoulder by ... who held the Skipper his tall ... Higgins the ... the chauffeur ... said?

... Vanishes

And this person must be in the house known to every one of us. If the individual had picked open the locked door of Jude Blinshop's room he was a person of ... remarkable strength. Michael had only one hand. Higgins was too feeble. Annie and Mr Farrington were not conceivably strong enough. William Cook Gay and myself were left—possibilities but probabilities? I was getting too involved in the subject.

Mike I said there'll be a boat from shore by morning and he'll ... Have you decided what we'll say to people?

His clouded eyes had a somber look. We ought to consult everyone before we decide. For Aunt Martha's sake I think we should hush it up as much as we can. Only George Foster's the coroner. He can tell us what to do and we can let him handle the police.

What about the Blinshops?

Michael's face was growing darker and darker. As soon as we can get across I'll go down there. I think I should.

I knew what he was thinking. Everything would depend upon Jude's family. We could tell them that she had been shot by accident while one of us had been playing with a gun. If they would accept that statement and the coroner in action was no different from the coroner on a fishing trip the name of the body in the billiard room might be left out of the case altogether. We could—

Right there I stopped struck by an unhappy thought. If we were to smooth this thing over—hush it up—we would be running a terrible risk. Either at Farrington Bluff or among us in town there would remain a dangerous homicidal maniac unknown and therefore in itself dangerous. On the face of the thing I wondered that Mike could consider it.

Do you think we have a right to risk it?

He glanced up at me swiftly and then back to the fire.

Yes noncommittally.

But suppose something else happens?

It was a squeamish way to put it but he understood me. Leaning forward he surveyed me with weary patient eyes.

You'll have to trust me a little Jim. I don't think anything else will happen.

I stared at him. Mr Farrington shot down like a rabbit. And nothing else would happen.

Have you any reason for thinking so?

No of course not. Michael roused himself knocked the ashes out of his pipe and slipped the thing into his pocket. Don't be so jittery.

Three Murders?

You wouldn't be so calm yourself if the police were scheduled to arrive within a few hours and everyone from the kitchen maid up suspected you of three murders.

Three? He shot the word at me suddenly on the alert. How do you figure three?

Well I said cautiously one certainty one possibility and one attempt.

So you think my father was murdered do you?

I think it's damned likely that someone coaxed him out to that bluff.

You're crazy said Michael roughly. Why the devil would anyone—

Gay's voice jumped at us from the door. Have you seen the Skipper? I've looked all over the house. I—I can't find her.

She's in Aunt Martha's room said Michael. What are you talking about?

Gay leaned against the door. But she isn't. I've looked three times. And I've been all over the house—upstairs and down.

Michael went to her. The Skipper is all right. You probably missed her on the stairs or in the kitchen.

She shook her head doggedly. I've been to the kitchen.

Michael and I looked at each other.

Is Aunt Martha asleep?

Yes. At least I think so. She looked—all right. I didn't notice much.

If Mike was alarmed his face didn't show it.

You just stay here a minute with Jim and I'll find her.

It was quite plain from Gay's face that she didn't in the least relish the idea of staying anywhere with me again—ever. But Mike was out of the door before she had time to object. Eyes big as saucers and her red hair rumpled about her chubby face she looked exactly like a terrified 12-year-old. I felt sorry for her.

"Don't be afraid Gay. You've been alone with me before without being murdered."

I was ... she ... her a ... impe... and then managed a wavering smile.

Come along I commanded briskly steering her into a chair and handing her a cigarette. If you see me beginning to look ferocious just hum Auld Lang Syne and I'll control myself for auld sake's sake.

This time the smile was steadier. Both of us were straining for the sound of Mike's returning footsteps. I rattled on.

Tell you what. You be the Ancient Mariner and reform me. I'll bet that within 24 minutes I'll be loving man and bird and beast. You might even get a confession out of me and then you could—

Jimmie she said you're an ass and only another ass could think you guilty of anything. I'm all right really. It was just—sort of a shock.

I could believe that. Not 10 minutes ago Mike had been confidently assuring me that nothing more would happen and I had half believed him. Why didn't he come? Was he building a house instead of searching one?

Well I rambled how did you enjoy your sojourn in the donkey world?

She was listening too. I could see the cords of her neck tight with the effort. But her voice was light.

Meaning that I did suspect you? Well I suppose I did a little. It's impossible to talk to you and think so but you must admit that the evidence looks pretty bad.

Was that Michael on the stairs? Gay had heard it too for she was half out of her chair. He was going down the hall in the direction of the servants quarters. I continued the cream puff chatter feverishly.

Don't mention that evidence. I'll dream of it for months. I'm sure of it.

She didn't answer. Our pretense of lightness was very flat. We were sitting there gripping the arms of our chairs waiting—waiting for an eternity of dragging time. Then at last came Mike's steps in the dining room. Gay fairly bounced to meet him.

Well she demanded before he was in the room.

He was worried. There were sharp lines around his mouth and his scowl was bewildered.

Aunt Martha's awfully quiet. Do you know anything about these damned drugs either of you?

I shook my head but Gay was clutching his arm.

Did you find the Skipper?

Michael averted his face. She's probably out feeding the dogs. Poor mutts must be nearly starved. I'll just run out and find her. I'm sure she's there.

Gay looked on the point of screaming. I shoved in my oar.

Wait a minute Mike. I don't mind looking. I'll take William along to guarantee my conduct. You stay here with Gay.

I knew that he wanted to do the searching himself but one look at the chalky face at his elbow changed his mind.

Thanks Jim he said. William's getting his things on—I've already called him. You'll find us up with Aunt Martha.

I hurried into the hall where I found a conglomerate assortment of boots and oilskins in the closet. Kicking off my shoes I dragged on the likeliest looking pair of boots and headed for the kitchen struggling into an oilskin as I went. At the game room door a disturbing thought halted me.

Snapping on a light I stepped to the billiard table and lifted the white cloth. This time there was no mistake. The table held what it was supposed to hold.

I started to replace the cover when I had another idea. One by one I went through the soggy pockets of Norman Farrington. And sure enough in the breast pocket of his coat I found what I was seeking—a key.

JOHN A. COCKERILL

A young man who appeared as journal clerk in the 58th session of the Ohio legislature later wrote his name large across the pages of American journalism. He was John A. Cockerill a native of Adams county.

When his legislative job ended Cockerill took a job with the Cincinnati Enquirer and soon became managing editor of that newspaper.

During the Russo-Turkish war he had a roving assignment and upon his return joined with several other prominent men to form the Washington Post. Later he became managing editor of the famous New York World lifting that paper from fifth to top place among the New York dailies of that time.

NIGHT and DAY
you're safe on CONCRETE

AT night you appreciate concrete all the more because its light gray surface helps you see down the road Light is spread without "glossy" reflection Pavement edges are clearly defined

Concrete meets the ideal for a pavement as defined by the International Illumination Congress of 1928 This is important to you because surveys show that the rate of death per accident is 43 per cent higher during darkness

Concrete, smooth but non skid, insures a quick, certain stop even in the rain Blow-outs, spring breakage, steering gear failures accidents of all kinds are less apt to happen on concrete

Yet concrete is not only safe—it is more comfortable—it saves in driving costs—it costs less for upkeep—and cost of construction is less than that of any other pavement of equal load carrying capacity

NO DICTATOR DANGER IN U. S., SPEAKER HERE SAYS

"March Against Rome" Impossible, Lawyer-Author Declares in Constitution Talk to Luncheon Clubs.

Although under our system of government the president has become its chief legislator, there is no danger of a president or any other person ever possessing the power of a dictator.

That viewpoint was emphatically voiced last night by Albert A. Woldman, Cleveland attorney and author, in an address before a Marion audience made up of approximately 150 members of Rotary, Kiwanis and Service club members and guests. The talk, on the subject "We the People, The Constitution and the Supreme Court," was given following a dinner at Hotel Harding arranged by the Rotary club with members of the two other clubs attending as [illegible].

Mr. Woldman is the author of a [illegible] book, "Lawyer Lincoln," [illegible] a daily column, [illegible] "Chatter," in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"The president will never be a dictator [illegible] from the people and will always be under the people's control," Mr. Woldman said.

The chief [illegible] dictatorship, however, he declared, was provided by the framers of the Constitution when they [illegible] government [illegible] which today consists of 48 states [illegible] in the one union.

Relating an account of Mussolini's [illegible] America he would [illegible] by Mr. [illegible] he would have to [illegible].

As [illegible] Mr. Woldman said that although the [illegible] law enforcement functions of our government [illegible] enlarged the scope of his power [illegible] before the people for endorsement [illegible] what legislation he will ask congress to enact.

This power he makes effective through exercise of patronage privileges and the right of veto, the speaker said.

"The president's power over legislation is practically limitless," he declared.

Managing the Court.

In order to maintain this power unimpaired, it is necessary for the president to have a favorable supreme court, Mr. Woldman said, and he went into history to show that the present chief executive is not the first to obtain that advantage.

He gave assurance that he was not speaking as "a partisan, but as a student of history," and to show that "it is all a part of our American system."

"Personally, I think President Roosevelt's supreme court program will win substantially," he said. "Although the senate is made up largely of lawyers who naturally may be opposed to the court change, they are also politicians and are likely to vote as such. Patronage is a strong factor in the situation, and there is more politician than lawyer in the makeup of our senators."

Going back into history, Mr. Woldman told how previous presidents, including Jackson, Lincoln and Grant, had effected supreme court changes in order to further their program. In fact Lincoln, he said, "packed the court" in order to win the Civil war. In this he referred to the blockade of southern ports established by Lincoln obviously in conflict with the Constitution and he said it is generally conceded that the blockade eventually won the war for the North.

Basis of Permanency.

"Why is the American Constitution the only one in the world's history which has survived, despite the fact that conditions when it was drawn were primitive and vastly different from those of today?" Mr. Woldman asked. He answered this by declaring that it "has been saved by only one thing, its sparseness and conciseness," which have permitted its application to changes and progress.

"The Constitution is nothing sacred, is not untouchable. It was meant to be amended," he said.

"Its practical wisdom is proved by the fact that it has stood 150 years," Mr. Woldman declared, calling attention to the fact that this year marks the Constitution's 150th anniversary.

Only one provision of the Constitution can not be amended and that is the one giving all states equal representation in the senate, he said. This was placed in the original document to protect the smaller states.

Prefacing his detailed discussion, Mr. Woldman reviewed the history of the constitutional convention, starting with a recital of the preamble, which he declared to be the "heart" of the entire 4,000 word document, since it makes clear and definite the rule of the people as a nation.

Preliminary Talks.

W. D. Brown, president of the Rotary club, presided, and brief talks were given by Carter Patton, a member of the city park commission, who asked support of the movement to finance city park improvements, J. J. Huebner, president of the Kiwanis club, Ralph Carhart, president of the Service club, and Edward N. Sonn, Rotary program chairman, who introduced Mr. Woldman.

Don A. Howard, acting as spokesman for the Rotary club, presented souvenir diaries to Dr. O. M. Young and James C. Mann, who will represent the Marion club in Rotary International at Nice, France, in June, and who responded with short talks. They will start on their trip next week, accompanied by Mrs. Young and Mrs. Mann.

MOTHERS ARE GUESTS AT GIRL SCOUT DINNER

Twenty-Fifth Anniversary of Movement Observed at Annual Banquet at First Reformed Church.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the Girl Scout movement was celebrated and the memory of Juliette Lowe, the founder, was honored at the second annual Marion Girl Scout mother-daughter dinner last night at the First Reformed church.

Girl Scouts, their mothers and guests, approximately 190 in number, met together for dinner and a program presided over by Mrs. J. E. Frew, first deputy commissioner, as toastmistress.

Mrs. Elmer Smith, commissioner, introduced Mrs. Frew. A welcome to the mothers was given by Carolyn King, to which Mrs. C. W. Weber responded on behalf of the mothers.

In giving a tribute to Mrs. Lowe, Mrs. Arthur S. Brooks who, with Mrs. Frew, attended the recent Kenowva regional convention in Charleston, W. Va., gave interesting personal glimpses of Mrs. Daisy Gordon Lawrence of Huntington, W. Va., niece of Mrs. Lowe and the first registered Girl Scout. Mrs. Lawrence attended the convention and told of her introduction to the Girl Scouts in 1912 on a plantation in Savannah, Ga., when her aunt presented her with a handbook.

Mrs. Frew in a brief talk told of the hope of the Marion Girl Scout council to have a director in the city in the fall to serve Marion [illegible] Walter.

Preceding the dinner there was a flag ceremony and pledge of allegiance [illegible] by Miss [illegible] Weller, president of the Leaders' association. A song and grace were said by Mrs. [illegible] Hardy.

A feature of the after dinner program was the presentation of an original operetta, "Marianna," written and directed by Miss Marilyn Mark and Lucille Stuckey. Those taking part were Evelyn Martz, June Thomas, Betty Jean Marcus, [illegible] Jean Thompson, Catherine Andrew, Virginia Llewellyn, Elizabeth Bishop, Barbara Gottschall, Mary Jane Llewellyn, Anna Mae Symonds and Katherine Stuckey. Musical selections by the Girl Scout Glee club and the singing of "Taps" closed the program.

A three-tiered birthday cake, topped by a single large candle, centered the commissioner's table. Lilacs and tulips and candles in pastel shades decorated the long tables. The programs, bound in pastel shades, were decorated with linoleum block flower designs and tied with pastel ribbons. Mrs. Francis Hurst, Mrs. Fred Allen and Mrs. D. T. Mills were in charge of arrangements.

His talk on the background of new standards which the state department hopes to set up in high schools of the state, climaxed a two-day inspection by Dr. Loy of the state department.

Madge Senses Philip Veritzen's Plot Against Mary

FOR THE fraction of a second [illegible] Philip Veritzen's [illegible] Mary's dramatic [illegible] I felt as if I were [illegible] Mary who had [illegible]

When Mary had first [illegible] I had [illegible] the great [illegible] Mary had wondered [illegible] a secret [illegible] he had planned [illegible] Philip Veritzen had [illegible] artistic [illegible] permit him to [illegible] openly [illegible] controlled, unless [illegible] was convinced [illegible]

[illegible] had reversed his [illegible] the great [illegible] have been serious [illegible] to give an unex[illegible] no matter how gift[illegible] He had said that [illegible] that he was [illegible] his reputation upon [illegible] of the role assigned [illegible] had been so convinc[illegible] theory that I had ac[illegible] though doubtingly. But I now realized to the full the [illegible] which Philip Veritzen had [illegible] in its subtlety [illegible] cruelty.

Sentence Betraying

Only one sentence—"I only hope Mary will be able to measure up to the role," he had said. But the words had betrayed to me the motive for his inexplicable action, as well as the heartless plot which he was hatching.

He meant to start rehearsals of the play, with Mary touted as a new discovery. Then by a wearing away process of captious carping, he would destroy the girl's confidence in herself, impair her ability to act, and finally regret that she was inadequate to fill the role.

There would be no "come-back." Mary's theatrical career would be finished, and Philip Veritzen's skirts would be technically clear of failing to keep his promise to make her a "Veritzen star." His judgment of dramatic ability was the last word in the theater. There was no appeal from it.

And my hands were tied! I was as sure of his plot, even of the details, as if he had outlined it to me. But I only had one sentence—a perfectly natural one—as a basis for my conviction. I could not hurl an accusation of devilish perfidy into the teeth of Mary's father-in-law with no apparent reason for my outbreak. All I could do was to hide my conviction and watch for an opportunity, no matter how slight, to thwart his purpose.

But it took every bit of poise and self-control I had to keep my face properly skeptical of his last statement.

"I do not think you need to fear Mary's ability to measure up to any role," I said enthusiastically. "Why, you picked her yourself, long ago, as potential star material, and you know there is a tradition in the theater that the great Philip Veritzen, like Disko Troop, was never mistaken in his judgments."

He smiled perfunctorily at my quotation from Kipling and then shook his head doubtfully.

"Except when they fall in love," he said ruefully, and I remembered how he had ruthlessly brought an end to the careers of two of his budding stars because they had dared to let romance interfere with their—and his—ambition.

"I admit that I never have seen anyone with more dramatic potentiality than Mary," he said slowly, and, my imagination said, grudgingly. "I have felt that I would be richly rewarded in prestige and money whenever I was really ready to star her. Against my judgment and because of your persuasion—" his eyes flashed unutterable compliments at me—"I permitted her to marry, something I never allow my women stars to do. And there is no question that her romance and her jealousy of the Princess Olga are seriously hampering her powers.

"Nevertheless, I am prepared to give her her chance in your play. If she can forget her romance and concentrate on her art, there is no question in my mind of her success."

CLAIM IS FILED ON LOAN CO. ACCOUNT

Mrs. Sarah E. Bear Asks That She Be Recognized as Citizens' Depositor.

Mrs. Sarah E. Hipsher Bear today filed her answer and cross petition to the request of Russell M. Wilhelm, receiver for the closed Citizens Building & Loan Co., for a common pleas court ruling on the status of her account holders. Mrs. Bear is the fourth person classified on the company's books as a stockholder to answer the request and claim the status of a depositor.

She denies that she "at any time subscribed or applied for any stock in the said Citizens Building & Loan Co. of any kind of description," and she states that when she made her first deposit [illegible] and at all times thereafter she was advised and informed by the officers of said company that her account was a savings deposit on which interest would be paid and on which interest was paid, and that she had no knowledge that said company claimed her account as a [illegible] stock account until after the appointment of a receiver [illegible]."

She asks common pleas court to order payment of a 20 per cent dividend amounting to $1,012.32 on her account of $5,061.62. All persons classified as depositors have been paid a 20 per cent dividend since the company closed in 1931.

Others who have answered Receiver Wilhelm's supplemental petition and the size of their accounts are: George F. Mochel, $3,053.67; Frank L. Hedges, $10,237.72, and Frank W. Hedges, $450.31. They are represented by Guthery, Strelitz & Guthery. Carter M. Patton represents Mrs. Bear.
